

Capturing the Spoken Word

A virtual Oral History Workshop hosted by the Lawrence B. De Graaf Center for Oral and Public History at Cal State University, Fullerton

SEPTEMBER 8, 2023

9:00 AM - 12:00 PM PST ON ZOOM

Interested in starting your own oral history project?

Dr. Cora Granata will lead a virtual workshop on oral history methodology on Friday, September 8. This workshop will introduce participants to the preparation, recording, transcription, and archival organization of oral histories, and will include time for discussion and Q & A!

Cost is $25 per person. | FREE for CSUF students.

Cora Granata is Associate Director of the Lawrence de Graaf Center for Oral and Public History and Professor of History. She is an internationally-recognized oral historian who has been engaged with oral history for over 20 years. She has published on oral history methods and theory, taught oral history to undergraduates and graduate students, and served as an oral history consultant for museums and documentary filmmakers.

REGISTER ONLINE:

<https://coph.fullerton.edu/services/workshops.php>

A Zoom link will be sent to participants the week of the workshop.